City Council Members,

I'm against the ordinance to repeal the city's income tax credit.

Clearly our City Council needs to recognize, on two separate occasions within the last year, the citizens of our city have spoken. Both tax increases have been put to a vote and have been soundly defeated. Now council wants to take a route which clearly ignores how the citizens have voted.

I have read only two proposed solutions that make sense. The first being to approach the citizens to vote on restructuring the fire levy, and the second is to strongly pursue economic development opportunities.

The city must also severely curb the residential development policies and the various gifts provided to residential developers over the last 30 years. A greater focus should be placed on bringing in good high paying jobs to the city.

Thanks,
